DEFENDANT 1,500 MILES AWAY DE-CLARED INSANE BY A JURY.

Formal Action in Order to Enable a Local Guardian for a Non-Resident Insane Person to Be Appointed.

A rather unusual proceeding took place in the probate court yesterday, when Mrs. Rebecca T. Hunt, of Connecticut, was tried for insanity. The subject of the inquiry was 1,500 miles away, but this did not obstruct the proceedings in the least. All the evidence submitted was in the form of depositions and the jury returned a verdict to the effect that Mrs. Hunt is of unsound But the impersonators of the strange peomind and incapable of attending to her business affairs

This proceeding was necessitated by the laws of Missouri, which provide that a nonresident guardian cannot act for a nonresident insane person. Mrs. Hunt is the owner of property in this county and a guardian had to be appointed to manage and dispose of the property. Refore a guardian could be appointed she had to be adjudged insane in the probate court of

In accordance with the verdict, C. F. Clarke was appointed guardian and his bond was fixed at $200. This proceeding clears away all the obstacles to the disposition or management of Mrs. Hunt's property in Jackson county.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

Those who enjoy diverting novelty will ind much to their liking in "Palmer Cox's Brownies," seen at the Coates last night. It is a spectacular comedy, founded on the Brownle people created by Palmer Cox, and while essentially an entertainment for children, there is much in it to amuse as well as edify grown folks. There is doubtless a measure of disappointment to many in the fact that the Brownies are not represented by children, or people sufficiently small to more mearly suggest the pictoria characters so familiar to the public. Of course, the leading characters must of necossity be acted by people of some years, but there might at least be a contingent of little fellows to fill out the tableaux ple are well made up and are clever enough o suggest in many ways the expressions and attitudes of Palmer Cox's creations These Brownie people furnish a very pretty little story of love and adventure, told simply enough to be followed by children. The scenes are sufficiently gorgeous to lend spectacular effect to the narrative, and some of the costumes are strikingly handsome. There are some very effective incidental diversions, among them the dances of Gertie Carlisle, an Oriental ballet, the flying ballet, a new and beautifu novelty; music by Newhouse and Waf-fle, of Lawrence, Kas., who are artists on the mandolin and guitar; the German band in a ludicrous travesty; the Borani brothers, contortion gymnasts of wonderful attainments, and last and best, the biograph pictures between acts. These pictures are vastly superior to the Brownie show. They represent the highest achieve-ment in the photography of moving objects, and are startlingly realistic, some of the scenes being positively thrilling, such, for example, as the approach and passing of a full speed express train. There are several good voices and there is some clever comedy. It would be a wise thing for the management to kill several verses of the topical duet sung by Miss Mulle and Mr. Deshon in the last act. There will be matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

WEALTHY ARMENIAN FAMILY COME TO AMERICA FOR REFUGE.

Dr. Nishkian, Chemist for the Armour Packing Co., Leaves for California to Meet His Parents and Brothers and Sisters.

Dr. Pedros F. Nishkian, chemist for the Armour Packing Company, left last evening for Fresno, Cal., where he will meet his parents, brothers and sisters, from whom he has been parted for twenty years, and surrounded with much that made life happy until the Turks began their slaughter.

The elder Nishkian was a prominent and wealthy citizen, but his possessions suffered with those of others and despite all of his precautions his family was persecuted. The family had been under suspicion for a time, because their son, Dr. Nishkian, had sent them, from Kansas City, his photograph taken in the regalia of the Shriners. It was interpreted there as proof of the aspirations of the young man to be a new ruler of the Turks, and the elder Nishkian was imprisoned for several months. When the recent hostilities were resumed the Nishkian family saw the hopelessness of further trying to live there, Last sum-mer Mrs. Nishkian left Armenia and met her son in Paris and made arrangements to come to America if the trouble con-

A quiet but particularly pretty home wedding of the past week was that of Miss Edna Alberta Love, daughter of Rev. Dr. Love, to Mr. Edward Chicago May Be Chosen as the Site Le Roy Hassig, of this city. The parlor, library and dining room were decorated with pink and white chrysanthemums and orange blossoms and carnations, sent from California by a friend. The bridal party entered the rooms to the strains of Men-deissohn's wedding march, played by Miss Jean Love. Miss Love also played during the ceremony. The ring service was used and was particularly solemn and effective. Dr. Love was the officiating minister. The girlish bride looked beautiful in a dainty silk embroidered Empire gown and carried a large bouquet of bride's roses. After the ceremony supper was served. Although the wedding was entirely quiet and there the wedding was entirely quiet and there were no invitations sent out, many beautiful presents were received, attesting the ularity of the young people. OLD QUESTION IS REVIVED.

SHALL THE IMPOUNDER BE PAID A SALARY OR FEES?

Mayor Jones Discusses the Proposition-Fees Stimulate Deputies to Unnecessary Zeal and Salaries the Opposite.

An unusually protracted session of citizens with grievances against the city imbounder, with Mayor Jones acting as arbirator, was held in the mayor's office yeserday forenoon. It has been the practice of the mayor to hold these sittings at 9 o'clock each day and during his absence a large number of cases have accumulated on the "docket." The matter revived the old question of placing the city impounder on the salary list.

"The present system causes a good deal of trouble and dissatisfaction," said the mayor, "but I can't say that the proposed hange in the method of payment will work an improvement. The fee system incites a good deal of unnecessary zeal on cites a good deal of unnecessary zeal on the part of the deputies, but on the other hand a fixed salary may make them neglinanu a fixed salary may make them negli-gent and inattentive to their duties. There is one feature of the proposed change, however, that I have no hesitancy in op-posing, and that is the vesting of the deputy impounders with police powers. "One of the results of this undue energy on the part of impounders is to work a on the part of impounders is to work a hardship upon poor people who cannot af-ford to pay the $2 fee to get their property out of the pound. Whenever a case of this kind comes to my notice I allow them to recover their stock without charges. Some-times, too when I are added to times, too, when I am satisfied that cattle or horses have broken out of a stable or iclosure and were not maliciously turned ose by their owners I allow them to be loose by their owners I allow them to be taken from the pound free of charge. Im-pounders should be in a position to ex-ercise this discrimination themselves, but they will not do it under the present sys-tem, as they would forfeit their fees. Still, the salary remedy may not correct the evil."

OTHER CITY HALL HAPPENINGS. Miscellaneous Matters of Interest to the Taxpayers and the Municipal Officials.

Walter Davis, superintendent of the street department, is preparing to apply to the police commissioners to vest his inspectors with powers as special police officers in order that they may make arrests in cases wherein sanitary laws are violated or obstructions placed in the streets. The department, he says, experiences a great deal of trouble from the dumping of garbage and refuse in catch basins and he has not thus far been able to secure the arrest of offenders. He says he cannot, with his present facilities, flush the sewers oftener than twice a week, and that in the meantime ill-smelling messes accumulate in the catch basins that are inimical to the
